

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A mobile phone and a microphone module therein. The mobile phone includes a housing, a printed circuit board, a connector, and a microphone. The housing includes a front case. The printed circuit board is disposed in the housing, and includes a notch. The connector is fitted into the notch of the printed circuit board. The microphone is disposed in the connector in a manner such that it faces the front case.